The programs at Executive Winners specialize in creating life giving energy and success drivers for people from all walks of life.

At Executive Winners, we appreciate that there is no "one size fits all" in life. Each of us differs according to our internal beliefs, our external and internal environment, our resources and our general state of "wellness". We respect this and design programs to fit each individual's needs and personality style. As human beings, we are surrounded by new opportunities, and new limitations. We teach people how to sift through and proactively choose what is useful and relevant and move on in an empowered more productive way.

Our Mission

To enlighten, educate, empower and entertain audiences globally. To earn the loyalty of Executive Winners Clients and grow our family of mentors who excel industry standard; to be world leaders in quality, cost and customer enthusiasm; to achieve this through the integration of people, technology and relationships.

Bullying Prevention

In order to prevent Bullying, your students must first understand what bullying is. In this 45minute seminar, we will share with your students: what constitutes bullying, from aggressive physical behavior to passive bullying on the internet. After going over these points with the students, we will break into role playing groups. Austin and Ron's educational programs are sought after because they meet the problem head-on by identifying the problem, teaching methods of prevention, while providing positive behavior alternatives and enthusiastically challenging students to reach for the stars!!

Ron and Austin believes that SELF-IMAGE and ATTITUDE determines how we interact with others and will ultimately shape and determine the course of our lives.

Workshops and Discussions

Your students are involved in role-playing, interactive scenarios show-casing various situations where bullying can and does occur at schools daily.

Speakers

Ron Waterfield

Professional keynote speaker, motivational speaker, business conference speaker, and seminar leader. He is also a chief executive officer, consultant, author of The Next Level, and successful businessman. Ron's twenty five years of business experience in corporate, provide a vast wealth of information and experience. As a public speaker, Ron draws upon this diverse background to relate key business principles, while enriching his content with insightful and dramatic illustrations, stories, and humor.

Through carefully developed and targeted keynotes, seminars, conferences, and executive retreats, Ron empowers his audiences. His highly personable style touches both the mind and the heart. With thought-provoking insights, vivid stories, and a frequent dose of humor, he reaches audiences in a way they do not soon forget. Each presentation is completely unique, meticulously designed to meet the specific needs of the client.

Wayne Lee

A former five time Canadian amateur wrestling champion and schoolteacher who had an unrelenting passion for entertaining and empowering people. He took a childhood interest in magic and a fascination with visualization and transformed himself from classroom instructor to Canada's Crown Prince of comedic hypnotism. Wayne found a new way to educate people about the power of the mind and spread his philosophy that "laughter is the best medicine" .

Over the years, Wayne has used hypnosis to excite, entertain and mesmerize thousands of various audiences across North America . He has performed over 2000 shows, hypnotizing over 20,000 people to explore the limits of their imagination, dance outrageously, act out their dream careers, and even become celebrities! Wayne has performed at the highly acclaimed "Greatest Outdoor Show on Earth", The Calgary Stampede, as well as appeared on numerous national television and radio programs.

Barbara May

A former national level gymnast, coach and trainer of coaches, Barbara May understands the pressure of competition and knows what it takes to perform. She has spent the past 25 years helping others achieve results and is a recipient of the 3M Coach Recognition Award for her outstanding contribution to the sport community.

Barbara holds a Bachelor of Education Degree from the University of Alberta and brings over two decades of teaching, speaking, school counselling, program development and management experience to her programs and clients. She teaches powerful techniques designed to break the habits and repeated patterns that prevent people from getting the results they want in their lives.

Writer and host of the television feature "May We Talk?" Barbara May knows how to get results, but she figures doing that and getting a laugh at the same time is a lot more fun. She is a single mom with two teenager daughters who joked her way into the Guinness World Records by performing in the longest stand-up comedy show in history.

Speakers (Continued)

Austen Radowits

Or Auzzie as he is known to his friends, is a 15 year-old young man who sustained a brain injury at the age of 14. This injury is known as a Diffused Axonal brain injury. Austen's recovery from his physical injury was difficult and became even more complicated by stresses placed on him by being a target of bullying in his school environment.

Austen's presentation began as a "communications project" for his 4H club. Given the encouragement from his support group and seeing a need in the community, Austen has taken the "bull or bully by the horns" and is out telling his story.

During a seminar on Bully Free at Work, by Valerie Cade, Austen met his inspiration. Valerie believed in Austen and his message. Through her mentor ship and encouragement Austen began working toward his certification as a professional speaker. Austen has been fortunate to speak at numerous schools and youth groups. He has met and been encouraged by many wonderful and supportive people.

His heartfelt keynote deals on three platforms: 1) Safety equipment, and how diligent use of his equipment did it's job, protecting him 2) brain injury, recovery and rehabilitation 3) how to move through the emotional drain of being a bully target. Austen has developed two keynote talks, approximately 40 minutes each. The age groups best suited are k through high school.

Austens primary goal was to help one other person through the maze of emotional and personal problems associated with being a bully target. I suspect that he may already have been that catalyst.

Billy Strean

An expert on experiential learning and applying laughter, humor, and playful movement to help people to be more engaged and have more fun, while producing extraordinary results in their work and play.

Billy received the University of Alberta's prestigious Rutherford Award for Excellence in Undergraduate Teaching. He has been teaching, coaching, and leading workshops for over 25 years. With a background as a teacher and NCAA athlete and coach, he went on for a doctorate in sport and exercise psychology at the University of Illinois. After being in school for way too long, Billy had pigeon-holed himself into a significant, but giggle-resistant life as an academic. With several years of specialized training he is now able to pump irony.

Billy's speaking and workshops inspire participants to have greater joy, fun, play, and satisfaction in their lives. Dr. Strean's high energy and engaging presentations are supported by a depth of education and experience working with and learning from some of the world's top achievers in sport, business, education, performing arts, and medicine.
